VISCHECK X-RAY QUALITY CONTROL SYSTEM

The Visccheck X-ray Quality Control System from Velopex transforms the management of processor condition and film quality. A simple procedure, requiring no special training, provides an accurate opening a Visccheck pre-exposed test strip in the processor's daylight loader or in a darkroom, then feeding it into the processor in the same way as you would a normal X-ray film. On completion of the processing cycle, the developed test strip is inserted into the electronic reader, and an indicator light signals whether the machine is currently able to process films to a high diagnostic standard.
